

HILLER AVIATION MUSEUM

Model Masters

Saturday Sept. 23
10am-1pm

Can you say Jet-A? To most people that would seem to require only money, time, a space for construction, and determination; so, what's the big deal? In fact there is no big deal at all; the deal is indeed quite small. With the brave use of Radio Controls (R/C), these aircraft are scale models that are remotely piloted by their builders. They are exact in almost every detail. The sight of these beauties will make you check their miniature pilots for a pulse! Our Master Builders will share photos, construction details, and some interesting stories about their fascinating hobby. Through out the day, these model helicopters will be flown outdoors. Check out the US Coast Guard Dauphin, the US Army OH-58 Kiowa, the Rescue Llama, and the all too familiar Bell Model 204 Iroquois, better known as the Huey. Don't miss this amazing event!

Hiller Aviation Museum
601 Skyway Rd. San Carlos, CA
650-654-0200 www.hiller.org